Aashwasan services has brought unprecedented breakthrough in epilepsy for the first time in the world. Through Aashwasan services

- Individuals become positive and optimistic about their life
- Individuals are supported emotionally to cope with the condition
- High levels of coping physically is brought about. It addresses short-term and long term effects of anti-epileptic medication
- For chronic epileptic conditions, it helps individuals identify and manage with circumstances and situations that act as a trigger for an epileptic response. This avoids occurrences of seizures in many instances

In over 300 individuals world wide, lives of individuals have been restored to a sense of normalcy, enabling them to live a normal life.

How is this possible? Can you experience this possibility in your life? Is this real? Can we break free from the grip epilepsy has over our lives?

To answer these questions, we would like to invite you for a talk by Ms. Rashmi Aiyappa, who has been a force behind unleashing possibilities, in lives of over 5000 individuals for the past 6 years; Possibilities that have left the medical community astounded and have them seeking Aashwasan's support as a supplementary system.
