

A mesmerizing evening unfolded on March 8th 2015 on the International Women’s day at Hotel Hilton where Aashwasan celebrated the specialness of Women as a part of Aashwasan’s women empowerment initiative. The presence of Rashmi Aiyappa, spiritual scientist, inventor, social innovator and founder of Aashwasan - a global revolution of love, made it a true celebration of life.

According to Rashmi Aiyappa, women’s day is not just about celebrating women, it’s about celebrating the specialness of each individual. It was true celebration and togetherness that came from complete acceptance and specialness of each person. The gripping part began when Rashmi Aiyappa took people through a journey of self- inquiry, origin of one’s self and the fundamentals of our creation. She shed light on individual’s being able to become self-aware and celebrate another’s specialness only if one connects to their own uniqueness. When this happens people in relationships can grow and discover themselves in nature’s path. Experiencing one’s true essence enables people to shed their conditioned patterns and behaviors and experience their innate specialness.

She shared that, collectively, over evolution we have lost the ability to experience our true self...” We get so caught up in trying to understand it” she said. She offered an experience as a gift to all present, which was the highlight of the evening. It was a distinctive service called “Love and Bonding”. Love and bonding takes people to their origin. All aspects that are not a part of one’s true self are shed in that moment making it possible for their deepest dreams, wishes and hopes to manifest in to their life’s experience.

A participant shared that she broke free of the helplessness she felt. A mother who was overly worried about her grown up children came out of the session and said “My children can take care of themselves, but I want to know what the purpose of my life is and what I can do with myself”. A gentleman shared “I went back to my childhood. I was not happy. I felt disappointment, but when I was asked to let go and accept things as it is, I felt happy.” Families connected with each other and felt profound togetherness for the first time. A young lady shared that the transformation was truly amazing. Everyone left with brilliance in their face, as if saying that “There is Hope”. “The Magical her” was a celebration of their being and of life. No one wanted to leave that space even long after the session was over.
