Her inborn knowledge of human mechanism & understanding of cause & effect in nature, gives her a holistic & accurate understanding of all life's happenings. According to her, evolution has altered natural mechanisms in life-forms and nature itself going against the way it was originally created to be. This resulted in creation of more and more diseases, diminishing human creativity, and above all is degenerating the quality of our lives. Our collective social well being is deteriorating despite technological advancements.

Aashwasan Science™ is a spiritual technology that can restore nature to its original mechanism and format. The tools & techniques she invented & continues to invent, which are offered to the world as services through Aashwasan, have brought unprecedented breakthroughs in 29 areas of health at preventive, curative, coping & palliative levels, transforming thousands of lives.

This scientific methodology brings a unique dimension to the offerings to corporates as well. Combining its expertise in delivering extraordinarily high impact results to corporates with its unique methodology of transforming lives in the area of health and wellbeing, path breaking results have been delivered in hundreds of organizations including Siemens, SPML, Emirates, Sigma Aldrich, Reliance Industries, etc. worldwide.
