

Aashwasan offers holistic treatment for Covid-19 patients

The Covid-19 virus keeps throwing more variants globally; nations, communities and individuals have been caught unaware. It's a fact that almost every individual is affected differently - with varying symptoms and degrees of severity, including the process of recovery.

People panic, not knowing how the virus will affect their body, whether they will require oxygen support, ICU bed, or whether they will recover at home. Under such periods of intense stress, individuals are unable to assess the situation and their health objectively. The ensuing mental stress causes panic attacks, palpitations, breathing difficulties, reduced immunity - all working against the body's fight for survival. Unfortunately, the fear and the anxiety adds fuel to the fire. Breathing patterns become shallow, and the body's response is compromised.

My son-in-law was diagnosed with Covid. His lungs showed infection. He was dull, couldn't eat or sleep and was very fearful. He couldn't talk to us for 2 days after the diagnosis as he was panicking. After the first session itself, he started eating. His fear was gone. He spoke to me which was such a relief. He started sleeping well. The accuracy of the reports shared after every session was so reassuring that I also took one session to deal with my stress. With one session, I could sleep well and my mind felt light. The recovery of my son-in-law was very visible. Later when my daughter showed signs of covid, I opted for a session for her too. - Indira (name changed on request for confidentiality)

I and my wife, both were diagnosed with Covid. We have two young children – 11 and 1 year old boys. Aashwasan's support helped us recover faster and also gave clarity as to how to take care of ourselves post Covid phase... - Varun (name changed on request for confidentiality)

My saturation that was 93 even after discharge increased to 97-98. I resumed my work already. The mental and physical support I got from Aashwasan services was very reassuring. - Anitha (name changed on request for confidentiality)

Immediate benefits of Aashwasan services:

- Overcome Fear and Panic - The individual can calm down and be more present in the situation at hand, allowing the body to do its job without the emotional burden.
- Strengthen Immune System - Aashwasan services bring awareness to the body, which helps the immune system access its innate strength. The immune system not only fights the virus but also guides the body to be open to self-repair.
